Practice Areas

- Government Contracts

Grant J. Book joined Crowell & Moring LLP in 2011 as an associate in the firm's Washington, D.C. office. He practices in the Government Contracts group.

Grant advises clients on a wide array of government contracts legal issues, including bid protests, contract claims, and investigations of potential civil and criminal matters. Grant has also advised clients on government investigations regarding potential False Claims Act issues.

Prior to joining the firm, Grant served as a law clerk to the Honorable Thomas C. Wheeler at the United States Court of Federal Claims, where he worked on bid protests and contract claims cases. Grant has also worked at the United States Department of Commerce, where he focused on fiscal law and Freedom of Information Act appeals, and at another law firm, where his practice focused on government contracts and white-collar investigations.

Grant graduated from the George Washington University Law School in 2007 with highest honors and as a member of the Order of the Coif. While in law school, Grant was a member of the George Washington Law Review and Alternative Dispute Resolution Board, and he received the award for excellence in written advocacy in the Government Contracts Moot Court Competition.
