

CLIENT ALERT

PODCAST: Antitrust in a New Era — Competition Under the Trump Administration — C&M's First 100 Days Series

Feb.09.2017

Cutting through the confusion surrounding the transition to the Trump Administration has been a challenge for businesses. As part of Crowell & Moring's "First 100 Days" series, Antitrust Group partners Ryan Tisch, Joseph Miller, and Jeane Thomas discuss their predictions for what the transition will mean in the antitrust realm and how businesses should respond. Joe has worked in both the FTC and the DOJ's Antitrust Division, and has experience with the transition process. Both Jeane and Ryan focus their practice on antitrust business counseling, merger control, and government investigations.

Covered in this 23 minute podcast:

- What factors might affect FTC and DOJ merger review.
- Predictions about the new administration's potential enforcement priorities.
- How businesses should position themselves for successful antitrust advocacy during this time of transition.

Click below to listen via the embedded player or access from one of these links:

PodBean | SoundCloud | iTunes

Visit our First 100 Days Series page here for more updates and analysis, as well as webinars and other podcasts.

For more information, please contact the professional(s) listed below, or your regular Crowell & Moring contact.

Joseph M. Miller

Partner – Washington, D.C.

Phone: +1 202.624.2809

Email: joemiller@crowell.com

Jeane A. Thomas, CIPP/E

Partner – Washington, D.C.

Phone: +1 202.624.2877

Email: jthomas@crowell.com

Ryan C. Tisch

Partner – Washington, D.C.

Phone: +1 202.624.2674

Email: rtisch@crowell.com