

CLIENT ALERT

Damages Available For Government Breach of CRADA

Nov.24.2010

The CFC in D'Andrea Bros. LLC v. U.S. (Nov. 18, 2010) rebuffed the government's argument that the court has no jurisdiction to consider an alleged breach of a no-cost cooperative research and development agreement and to award damages. The court set for trial the contractor's complaint that, when the Marine Corps bad-mouthed the contractor publicly, it breached its good faith duties by frustrating the contractor's ability to market certain trademarks for food items effectively.

For more information, please contact the professional(s) listed below, or your regular Crowell & Moring contact.

J. Chris Haile

Partner – Washington, D.C.

Phone: +1 202.624.2898

Email: chaile@crowell.com