Lawyers on the Front Lines: Identifying Risk and Managing Internal Investigations

Dec.06.2017

In-House lawyers often confront crises; however the focus is growing more intense on the actions of in-house lawyers and their responsibilities including gate-keepers to prevent, identify and respond to such crises. Recognizing this trend and providing questions every in-house counsel should consider as they examine their company's readiness for the unexpected, Crowell & Moring partner Lorraine Campos co-published an article entitled "Lawyers on the Front Lines: Identifying Risk and Managing Internal Investigations", which may be accessed here.
