

Crowell & Moring's Tax Group Recognized by World Tax and World Transfer Pricing

Washington – February 17, 2020: Crowell & Moring's Tax Group was recognized by World Tax, a comprehensive guide to the world's leading tax firms, in the General Corporate Tax and Tax Controversy categories for Washington, D.C. Furthermore, several of the group's lawyers were listed as "highly regarded" in the area of Tax Controversy, including chair of the firm's Tax Group David Blair, partner Robert Willmore, and senior counsel Brad Anwyll. Partner Dwight Mersereau was ranked as "highly regarded" in the areas of General Corporate Tax and Tax Controversy.

In the firm's profile, the publication notes that "the firm focuses on large US and foreign corporations" and "the team is very active in controversy." World Tax also highlights that "the team works on an array of sectors including the energy, communications, technology, hospitality and pharmaceutical sectors."

Additionally, World Transfer Pricing, a guide to the world's leading transfer pricing practices, recognized the firm for Transfer Pricing in the United States and partner David Fischer was recognized for his "extensive transfer pricing experience," along with Blair and Anwyll.

World Transfer Pricing notes that "Crowell & Moring has a robust transfer pricing practice" and "excels in tax controversy and litigation in the areas of transfer pricing, foreign tax credit, partnerships, employment taxes and tax accounting issues."

Contact: Andrew Loeb
 Communications Specialist
 +1 202.624.2792
 aloeb@crowell.com