

Law360's 2018 Health Editorial Advisory Board

Law360 (March 19, 2018, 2:41 PM EDT) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2018 Health editorial advisory board.

The purpose of the editorial advisory board is to get feedback on Law360's coverage and gain insight from experts in the field on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of the 2018 Health Law360 editorial advisory board are:

Christopher Flynn, Crowell & Moring LLP

Christopher Flynn, co-chair of Crowell & Moring's health care group, focuses his practice on complex commercial litigation before federal and state courts, administrative agencies and arbitral forums. Chris regularly represents HMOs, PPOs, IPAs, TPAs, health benefit plans, fiscal intermediaries, managed behavioral health care organizations, plan sponsors and health care industry associations in various litigation, investigations and regulatory matters.

Mark Gallant, Cozen O'Connor

Mark Gallant, co-chair of Cozen O'Connor's health law practice group, concentrates his practice in client counseling and litigation involving federal and state regulation of health care providers and third-party payors. Gallant previously served as senior counsel with the civil division of the U.S. Department of Justice and as deputy associate general counsel for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Stuart M. Gerson, Epstein Becker Green

Stuart M. Gerson is a member of the firm in the litigation and health care & life sciences practices, in the firm's Washington, D.C., and New York offices, and a former senior U.S. government official. Much of Gerson's practice has been centered on providing representation to clients in the health care industry. He has extensive experience litigating cases involving cybersecurity, as well as civil and criminal fraud issues.

Precious M. Gittens, Hooper Lundy & Bookman PC

Precious Gittens is a former federal prosecutor and is co-chair of the firm's fraud and abuse practice group. She is certified in health care compliance by the Compliance Certification Board and advises organizations on compliance matters. She also assists audit committees and boards of directors in conducting internal investigations, and represents health care organizations in response to government investigations and enforcement actions.

Laura Laemmle-Weidenfeld, Jones Day

Drawing on her extensive experience defending clients against health care fraud enforcement actions, Laura Laemmle-Weidenfeld also provides practical compliance advice on Medicare and Medicaid fraud and abuse issues. She has defended against numerous investigations and litigation brought by the U.S. Department of Justice, various U.S. attorneys' offices and other state and federal agencies.

Les Levinson, Robinson & Cole LLP

Les Levinson is co-chair of the transactional health care practice at Robinson & Cole. His practice concentrates principally on transactional, regulatory and business matters for health care and life science clients, including home care and hospice companies, other nonacute providers, physician practices, information technology, medical device companies, health care equipment providers and others.

Kenneth R. Marcus, Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn LLP

Kenneth Marcus' law practice, commencing in 1984, has been exclusively in the field of health law. In recent years he is perhaps best known in representing hospitals in appeals before the Medicare Provider Reimbursement Review Board and the federal courts. He is a partner in the Detroit office of Honigman Miller, in which he is a member of the health, appellate and governmental relations practice groups.

Antonia (Toni) Peck, Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough LLP

Toni Peck is a partner in Nelson Mullins' Raleigh office. She counsels health care entities on mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, reorganizations, and hospital-physician alignment and integration strategies. She also provides regulatory compliance and health care operations guidance to hospitals and health systems, physicians and laboratories.

Barbara Rowland, Post & Schell PC

Barbara Rowland is a principal and Washington, D.C., office chair of the firm's internal investigations & white collar defense practice group and a member of the firm's commercial litigation practice group. Her practice focuses on representing corporations and individuals from a variety of industries, including pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers and distributors, retail pharmacies, pharmacy benefit managers and others.

Norman G. Tabler Jr., Faegre Baker Daniels

Norman Tabler is a retired partner with Faegre, where he led the firm's health law practice. He is host of the American Health Lawyers Association podcast series "Speaking of Health Law" and a member of the editorial advisory boards of the American Bar Association Health Law Section's The Health Lawyer and the ABA Senior Lawyers Division's Voice of Experience. He was educated at Princeton, Yale and Columbia.

Ursula Taylor, Butler Rubin

Ursula Taylor is a partner and chair of the health care litigation practice at Butler Rubin. She represents and counsels clients with respect to actual or potential disputes in the areas of health care, insurance and reinsurance. Taylor graduated from the University of Michigan and Northwestern University School of Law, cum laude.

Susan Schneider Thomas, Berger & Montague PC

Susan Thomas is a shareholder at Berger & Montague, in the firm's false claims/whistleblower group. Her work spans defense contracting, customs duties, environmental remediation and grant fraud, with a primary focus in health care fraud. She has litigated cases involving fraudulent price reporting, off-label marketing and billing for defective medical devices.

--Editing by Marygrace Murphy.